

New Hampshire Library Association Members - Earn an online Master's in Library and Information Science at a special reduced tuition rate!

New Hampshire Library Association has partnered with Drexel University to provide its valued members with the opportunity to earn an ALA accredited Master's in Library and Information Science conveniently online while receiving 20% off of the regular Drexel University tuition rate. Drexel's highly interactive eLearning format makes it possible for our valued members to continue their education entirely online without compromising quality for convenience. For more details, please visit www.nhla-drexel.com.

A pioneer in online learning since 1997, Drexel has become a leader in the integration of technology into academia. Drexel's online programs have the same admissions criteria and follow the same curriculum as on-campus programs and are even taught by the same professors, thus leading to the same employer-respected degree students earn on campus in Philadelphia.

Online Program Benefits:

- 20% off the regular tuition rate for New Hampshire Library Association members.
- Unprecedented convenience and flexibility for working professionals - no commute to campus, fixed class hours, or career interruption.
- Ranked by US News & World Report as one of the best national doctoral universities, Drexel is regionally accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges & Secondary Schools and has been accredited by ALA for its Information Science & Technology programs since 1927.

Drexel's Initiative

Drexel's College of Information Science and Technology, the newly named iSchool at Drexel, is a founding member of the iSchool Consortium. This Consortium consists of multiple colleges and schools within universities that focus on problems and domains emphasizing the intersections between people, information and technology. This cooperative initiative is underway by 25 iSchools nationally to brand the information science and technology field. Drexel, which offers the second largest program in the country, was also ranked 11th in the nation by U.S. News & World Report for their MS in Library and Information Science graduate degree.

Drexel accepts applications on a rolling basis with the next available classes starting in September 2006. Take the next step in your career and apply today. To learn more, please visit www.nhla-drexel.com, call toll-free at (866) 440-1947, or e-mail your questions to librarians@drexelelearning.com.

When you apply make sure to use "NHLA" as your affiliation code to receive your special tuition rate!